

Copyright by the author of this working paper

The working paper has been edited by the Research Area's Editorial Board:

Prof. Dr. Wolfgang Fach
Prof. Dr. Foteini Kolovou
Prof. Dr. Sabine Rieckhoff
Prof. Dr. Bernhard Streck

Editorial Assistant: Sarah Krenz (krenz@uni-leipzig.de)

This case study on the issue of sex work in South Africa looks at the various objectives for which a human rights language is utilised as well as the strategies with which this is being done.

For further details see
<http://www.zv.uni-leipzig.de/forschung/pbf/contested-orders.html>

Distribution:
Research Area Contested Order, Universität Leipzig
E-Mail: riskord@uni-leipzig.de

Profilbildender Forschungsbereich
CONTESTED ORDER

Working Papers CONTESTED ORDER
NO. 5

U. Lühe: Human Rights Language as an Instrument. An Analysis of the Sex
Work Discourse in South Africa with a
Focus on Human Rights

Leipzig 2012

ISSN 2191-3641

