

Contents

Acknowledgements	6
Conversing the Book: Editorial	8
Lindsey Drury and Nina Tolksdorf
What Do We Discuss When We Discuss the Interface? A Conversation	20
Johanna Drucker and Roberto Simanowski
Conceptual Analogues: Coming to Terms with Data Visualisation	50
Marian Dörk
The Data Practitioner as Author: Conversations with Data	74
Jan-Erik Stange
The Interface as a Locus of Knowledge Generation	108
Silvia Masiero
Human Intuition and Computational Clustering: Tackling a Fluid Textual Tradition	142
Beatrice Gruendler and Mahmoud Kozae
Textual Criticism and Textual Transmission as History of Knowledge: Digital Annotations on De Interpretatione	174
Michael Krewet and Philipp Hegel
Pellicle and Portrait: A Historiography of Face, Race, and Interface in Media Theory [Thinking into the Cracks Between Lavater, Dagognet, & Galloway]	198
Lindsey Drury
“The Half-Error of Physiognomy”	235
François Dagognet, translated from the French by Nils F. Schott
#NOTALLDIGITALHUMANITIES: A Conversation	298
Katherine Bode and Alexander Galloway
Appendix	325
Biographies	327
Postscriptum	335
